

A Voice

About Voice

Being a Voice of NRCSA is a more in-depth way of contributing to future programs at NRCSA. As a Voice, you directly influence NRCSA programming and connect one-on-one with potential NRCSA participants.

Work on a Guide for Students

You influence NRCSA programming by helping work on a guide for studying abroad in the location you studied in. A guide on a particular location is very helpful for other students to have before they travel. As a Voice, you are considered an expert on the places where you have participated in a NRCSA program. A coordinator at NRCSA will help you through this process, but you are free to share with other students what you learned from your trip.

Mentor New Students

Mentoring new students is one of the most rewarding parts of being a Voice. We know that as an alumni you remember what it is like to study abroad and participate in a NRCSA program. Traveling abroad can be a daunting task, especially if it is your first time. As a mentor, you walk people through the process. You will be very appreciated by our new students. By mentoring people, you uniquely influence someone else's life.

Influence Future Programs

As a past student of NRCSA, we value what you have to say! As a Voice, you are one of the people we look to for information about our programs. You tell us what excursions you thought were really fun, and maybe which ones you would pass on next time. You even suggest to us new excursions that should be included. You pull from your experience to inform future decisions that we make. We take any suggestions that you have for programs seriously, since our best ideas come from our students.
